DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter (the lower panel coupling recess lower end axially supporting the upper panel) which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification sections cited on page 16 of the remarks do not provide support for such support of the upper panel, axial or otherwise.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is unclear how, or what type of support is provided to the upper panel by the coupling recess lower end. If such support is situated in the direction of an axis of the panel, what panel axis is it? For example, if the support provided is vertically oriented, then how does the coupling recess lower end provide support, when the upper panel is essentially fully supported by the nail, 102, therein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Barker (3,420,028).

Barker discloses an assembly of prefabricated panels comprising:

a plurality of prefabricated panels (10) each having:

a front panel body (panel 15 is a “front” panel as broadly recited, from the perspective of the beam, 12) having an upper end and a lower end;

an upper bent section (16) formed toward the upper end of the front panel body, the upper bent section extending rearward with respect to the front panel body and defining a coupling recess (27) having a lower end spaced from, and positioned below, the upper end of the front panel body; and a lower bent section (17) formed toward the lower end of the front panel body, the lower bent section extending rearward with respect to the front panel body and having a lower end, the lower bent section (portion 25 of the lower bent section) of an upper panel of the plurality of prefabricated panels being insertable in the coupling recess of a lower panel of the plurality of prefabricated panels, the lower end of the lower bent section of the upper panel contacting the lower end of the coupling recess of the lower panel, the lower end of the coupling recess of the lower panel supporting the upper panel in a direction perpendicular to the beam.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-8, and 11 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
